Work one-on-one on your English communication skills with a trained instructor. Pick a weekly time that works with your schedule. Set goals, get personalized feedback, and focus on your unique linguistic needs. At your first meeting, you'll discuss your current communication needs, strengths, and weaknesses with your instructor. Together, you'll create learning goals for the quarter. Session activities are based on those learning goals and may include structured conversation practice, pronunciation and accent modification, listening comprehension, presentation practice, SPEAK or Versant test preparation; mock interviews; cultural discussion, vocabulary practice, and more.
