Our individual tutoring sessions offer the opportunity for eligible students and scholars to work one-on-one on their English communication skills with a trained instructor. In individual sessions, students receive increased opportunities for practice, personalized feedback, and focus on their specific linguistic needs. At the first meeting each quarter, students and their tutors complete an in-person assessment to discuss current strengths and weaknesses. Based on that initial meeting, the student and tutor create learning goals for the quarter. Session activities are based on those learning goals and may include structured conversation practice, pronunciation and accent modification, listening comprehension, presentation practice, SPEAK or Versant test preparation; mock interviews; cultural discussion, and more.
